

I am sorry. I haven't done it myself yet. But there is this feature called "helping hand" where you can see who understood the lecture and is happy to help you.

Unit 5

Ahh, Anna marked herself as a helping hand for unit 5. I will send her a message in this app to ask her if she has time to help me.

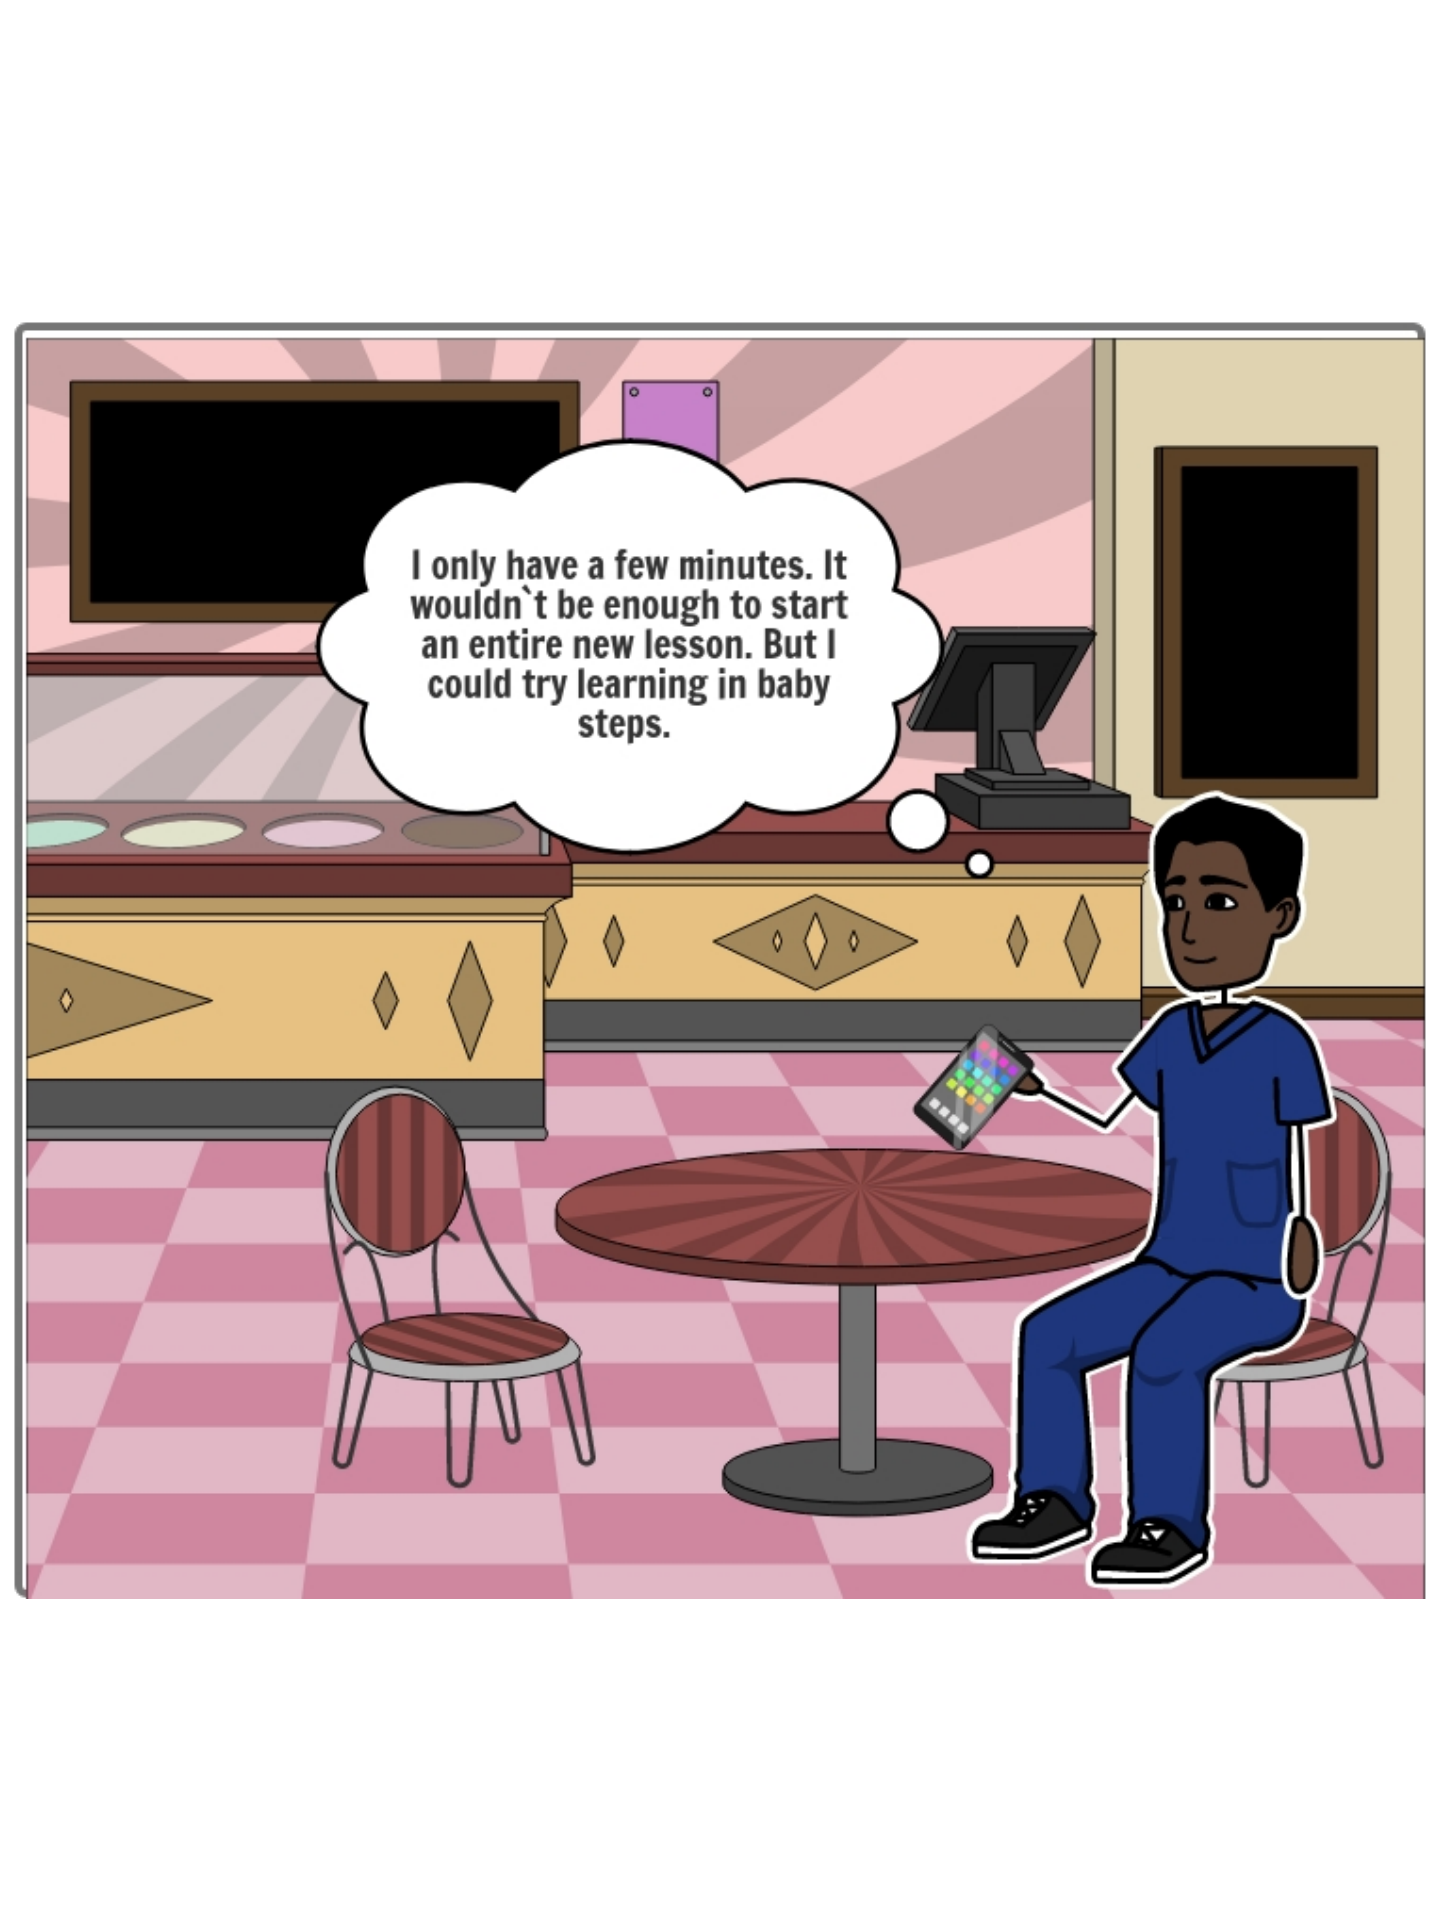

Thanks for explaining it to me. Now I really understand it. And I can mark myself as a helping hand for others.

I am so busy today. I don't have any time to use the learning platform.

There is a feature called learning in baby steps where you can learn or repeat interesting facts in just one or two minutes. I practised alot even though I didn't have that much time.

I only have a few minutes. It wouldn't be enough to start an entire new lesson. But I could try learning in baby steps.

I am so happy. I managed to finish 3 learning in baby steps leactures during my coffee break. It was so interesting. I am really motivated to learn more about the topic in the normal lecture.

I love this learning tool. I can always find support when I need it. Learning with others is more fun than learning on your own.

I love it too. I can continue my learning progress even when I barely have any time.
